Solid waste resolution is approved

By FLORENCE MEEKS
ANP Staff Writer

An emphasis on recycling and composting over incineration and landfills are among the changes requested in a resolution approved by Romulus city councilmembers regarding the five-year update of the Wayne County Solid Waste Management Plan.

The original plan, which was released by the Wayne County Solid Waste Implementation Committee in September, calls for a 75-percent reduction in residential solid waste by the year 2000. It received sharp criticism for encouraging heavy use of incineration to meet that goal.

Councilmembers voted unanimously to approve the resolution listing changes to the plan.

"It's something we knew was coming," said Mary Ann Banks, mayor pro tem. Banks commented on the resolution after approval.

"More and more citizens are becoming aware of the problems we're having with landfills and waste products," Banks added. "While recycling may pose an inconvenience, it has become a necessity."

While the revision calls for implementation of recycling and composting, it also requests the cost estimates for building and operating such facilities.

The revised plan also calls for the reduction goal to address commercial and industrial waste along with residential waste.

Additional changes include a restriction of solid waste from outside the Metro area and formation of a new committee with representation from local governments to discuss landfills.

The resolution addressed accusations that the implementation committee consists of at least three members affiliated with landfills. The resolution calls for a reconstructed planning committee with more representation by elected officials.

Finally, the resolution contradicts the original plan by stating communities hosting landfills will not be immune from the reduction goal.

This resolution still awaits approval by numerous communities in Wayne County.

A positive attitude is what Romulus residents need to help their city grow, according to long-time resident John Roundtree. He said that attitude helped him while training for a special flying force during World War II. Roundtree (above) proudly displays a photograph of a fellow Tuskegee Airman in battle. Resident relays value of community

Romulus hides great potential for growth, according to John Roundtree, who has lived here for 22 years.

Roundtree is active in numerous local organizations including the property disposition committee and the recreation advisory committee. He trained to be a pilot in a segregated, black fighting force during World War II and built a career as a teacher and administrator for the Detroit schools.

Roundtree said attitude is crucial for reaching one's goals. That belief has helped him, and Roundtree believes it can help Romulus as well.

Roundtree and his wife Edith chose Romulus as the site for their new home in 1964.

"One of the reasons we settled here was because of the airport...the potential for growth," Roundtree said.

The couple found a five-acre parcel near Ecorse and Wayne roads and built their house together. They brought in soil, planted grass and trees, helped with the carpentry and the brick-laying.

"We built it practically ourselves," Roundtree recalled.

The Roundtrees settled in two years later, but as time passed they became disappointed with the community.

"When we first came here, it didn't seem as friendly as it should be," Roundtree said. "People seemed divided with no interest in progress...all for themselves."

Roundtree said the city might be a different place if residents were more united.

"I always thought the place had beautiful potential for being an outstanding commu-ity," he said.

Roundtree said that potential still exists today.

"We're experiencing an awful lot of growth...if we just don't sit back, as in the past," Roundtree said. "There's no reason we can't have a major shopping area right here," he continued. "We have to change our attitudes from pessimism to optimism."

Roundtree explained how optimism, along with the support of his family, has proven valuable to him throughout a life filled with challenges.

During the early years of U.S. involvement in World War II, Roundtree trained to be one of the Tuskegee Army Airmen. He explained that during that time, blacks were not allowed to serve as aviators. As an experiment, 966 blacks were trained at an isolated air base near the

Jail site debated at study session

By FLORENCE MEEKS
ANP Staff Writer

A large turnout was expected Tuesday at a study session concerning the new Wayne County jail.

Romulus is one of four sites being considered for the new jail which would house those convicted of misdemeanors and pre-trial felons.

"I assume there will be a pretty good turnout," said Dennis Oakes, director of community development.

City officials have agreed to seek additional information from county officials concerning the facility, but have denied actually seeking the jail.

Oakes pointed out that if the jail was built in Romulus, the project would be between the county and private developers.

"We are not a key part of the process," he said.

As for the actual site of the jail, Oakes said several privately-owned parcels of Romulus land are under consideration, but he declined to elaborate.

"We have been asked not to reveal it...It is not our project to announce," Oakes explained.

Deputy Wayne County Executive Michael Duggan will be on hand Tuesday evening to explain the details of the new facility. He has already given similar presentations in Hamtramck and Highland Park.

The people in Hamtramck and Highland Park came to the meeting with all negative feelings, but I think when they left they were a little more positive."

While residents and officials of these communities have seen "a silver lining" to the jail issue, Duggan does not expect the same reaction from Romulus residents.

"I think in Romulus they are just getting a taste of development with airport related business," Duggan said. He added that Romulus officials will probably be more "afraid" of the jail than Hamtramck and Highland Park.

Duggan has tried to dispel the beliefs that jails hinder development by using communities such as Northville as an example.

"The people in Northville aren't worried about the jail and escapees, they're worried about too much development."

Effort under way to keep kids in school

Romulus educators and high school students plan to take an in-depth look at the problem of dropouts next week.

This study will take the form of a student symposium set for Feb. 3 at Wayne County Community College. The event will run from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. and will be open to residents.

The symposium is part of the new Partnerships for Education program in the district.

Student government representatives and members of Romulus High School organizations such as Students Against Drunk Driving, the National Honor Society and the Varsity Club will participate. Approximately 200 students are expected to attend. "I'm happy to see everybody working in one direction," said Tom Dolan, principal of Romulus High School.

Dolan, who is a member of the Romulus Partnerships for Education Advisory Council, suggested the symposium in early December and enlisted the participation of student leaders. The idea was well-

Business, schools unite for a promising future

A kick-off celebration for a program designed to bring the "real world" into the classroom was staged Thursday.

The program, Partnerships for Education, consists of year-long meetings between local schools, businesses and government representatives to help prepare students for the job market. The Romulus school district was recently awarded a $5,000 grant from the Michigan State Board of Education for the program.

Participants in the Romulus partnerships met Thursday evening to kick-off the program and express goals for the future.

"Our number one goal is to make sure every graduate of Romulus High School...has the skills to achieve any goal they wish," Ed Clark, coordinator of the partnership program.

"What we are trying to do is provide real-life role models," Clark added.

Dr. William Bedell, superintendent of schools, expressed his excitement with the program. Because 70 percent of the tax base is industrial or commercial, students in this community have a unique opportunity, he said.

"It gives us a chance for you (businesses) to tell us what we need to do," Bedell said. "It is obvious to us we are not offering the right things in the vocational education program," he continued.

School aid: Area educators join rally for finance reform

By JOAN MARY DYER
Belleville City Editor

Representatives of 60 in-formula school districts met Saturday in Lansing to "put some clout" into their requests for aid to their financially troubled schools.

Connie Brinkerhoff, Van Buren Public Schools vice president, and school board member Kathleen Fisher were among the 110 school board members from throughout the state who attended the Boards United for Fair Funding rally.

"I'm encouraged by the participation in the rally," Brinkerhoff said. "Everyone knows there is an inequity in (school) funding, and major finance reforms must be made, but in the past, we (in-formula districts) haven't worked together to make our voices heard. Other groups have lobbied for their interests, and it is time that we spoke up and made our needs known.

"Something has to be done — and done quickly," Brinkerhoff said. "Many districts share the same problems that we have, or they will face those problems in a year or two. A number of in-formula districts are facing overwhelming debts, and they just can't make it with the present funding."

Brinkerhoff said the Van Buren Public School Board has "already cut $1.5 million out of our budget and we are looking at ways to cut another $1.5 million from the budget. It's a terrible situation, and a real morale problem with everyone wondering where those cuts will be made and who will be affected."

The school board vice president said she is disturbed that local districts are being blamed for inadequacies in education when "we have done a good job of making the best of what we have."

Tom Wilson of Wyandotte, organizer and newly elected BUFFS president, said the group has been divided into nine regions — the local in-formula districts in Wayne, Oakland and Macomb counties being grouped in Region Nine with Frederic Champnella of the Southgate Community School District as liaison.

Wilson said the first project of the group will be to develop a long-term "vision statement" and a short-term proposal to improve and change the educational funding pattern. The plan also calls for creating a dialog within each region, he said.

"We (the in-formula districts) have been noticeably absent from representation in Lansing," Wilson said. "We were told that when legislative staff meetings on school funding were conducted, there were no representatives from our districts to speak out about the interests of the in-formula schools."

"I feel the rally was the most stimulating gathering that I have attended in seven years as a (Wyandotte) board member. We have the promise of members to do whatever it takes to obtain fair funding,"

Wilson said. "We are all tired of excuses and talk, and we are tired of taking the blame on the local level for the results of lack of proper funding."

The in-formula schools, which make up approximately 77 percent of the 530 state public school districts, have relatively low property tax base and receive funding from the state School Aid Fund. The remaining out-of-formula districts have higher tax bases and received little or no state school aid.

Reactions mixed to county appointments

By BARBARA ALBERT
ANP Staff Writer

Local representatives on the Wayne County Board of Commissioners have mixed reactions to the various committee appointments recently announced.

Appointments to the standing committees of the commission were announced last week by newly elected commission Chairman Arthur Carter (D-Detroit).

"I always try to be resourceful and do the best with what I am given," Commissioner Milton Mack (D-Wayne) said. "But I am not satisfied in general that the suburbs are receiving adequate representation on the key committees."

Mack, who is seeking an appointment to the Wayne County Circuit Court, has been appointed to the economic development committee and the health and human services committee. He is also a member of a new three-member tribunal established to review and offer recommendations on lawsuits involving the county.

Mack is a practicing attorney.

The public services committee, which oversees roads and drains, is especially unbalanced in representation, according to Mack.

"Detroit dominates the committee structure and the commission," Mack said.

If it were not for the strong executive branch in the county, Mack continued, the suburbs would be outweighed.

Commissioner Kay Beard (D-Inkster) said she is pleased with her appointments, especially her re-appointment to the powerful ways and means committee.

Beard served on the ways and means committee from her first 1978 term in office until last year. She was not appointed to the committee in 1988.

"I have the most experience on this committee, and that's very important," Beard said.

Members of the ways and means committee are responsible for establishing the county budget, based on the recommendations of the county executive.

Beard was also appointed to the health and human services committee and the maintenance and scheduling committee.

Mack's county district includes the cities of Wayne, Belleville and Romulus and the townships of Canton, Van Buren and Sumpter. Beard's district includes Inkster and Westland.

Regional recycling is a goal

The 17-member Conference of Western Wayne is investigating ways in which members can join forces for recycling and composting projects to reduce their volume of solid waste.

The proposed Wayne County master plan will require communities to reduce their solid waste output by 75 percent within five years. The methods suggested are recycling, reusing, composting and incineration.

CWW Executive Director Ann Bollin said the group could join in the feasibility study on recycling and composting with the Downriver Community Conference.

Charles Griffin, CWW Chairman and mayor of Westland, commented that recycling would be "easier as a group," and "would allow smaller communities to participate."

If we work together it will be more economical, and we will have tremendous clout with more communities," said Romulus Mayor Beverly McNally, who serves as CWW vice chairman.

Dennis Archer of Dearborn said his city had collected 75 tons of recyclables during a nine-week period. The collection center is open three hours on the first and third Saturdays of each month, and operates with volunteers coordinated by city personnel.

Archer said recycling may not be cost effective to begin with, but the cost will come down as a large volume of recyclables are collected. He also noted that for each ton of waste materials that is recycled, there is a decrease in collection or dumping fees for one ton of waste.

Glass, paper and plastics — because there are markets for them — would be the first wastes to be recycled, he said. Other conference members suggested that recycling be done at several area sites, rather than at one location, to promote more participation. A coordinator for the project could be selected from among the solid waste experts employed by CWW members.

CWW members also voted to pursue a feasibility study and also to seek grant funds through the Clean Michigan Fund and state Proposal C.

Car stolen at knife-point

A customer of the Silver Bullet bar on Huron River Drive was forced to give up his car keys at knife-point early Saturday morning.

A customer, leaving the bar at approximately 1 a.m., was about to enter his 1986 GMC Suburban when he realized someone was inside attempting to steal the radio.

The man in the car reportedly pulled out a knife and demanded the car keys from the owner.

The owner turned over the keys, according to police officials, and the thief left in the car.

Romulus police are looking for a white male, 25, with a medium build and light brown hair. The Suburban is dark blue with a snow plow.

Dip in water pressure expected

For the next five or six months, Romulus residents may experience a loss of water or water pressure for short periods of time, city officials warn.

"The loss of pressure is due to a water audit for the city," said Melvin Zilka, assistant director of the department of public works. City officials are attempting to detect untapped water within the city.

"We shall make every effort to keep this (loss in pressure) down to a minimum," Zilka said.

For more information call the DPW office at 942-7579.

Health group plans meeting

The next meeting of the Romulus Adolescent Health Advisory Committee is planned for Jan. 26 at the Romulus Community Schools Administrative Offices Building, on Grant Road.

The meeting is open to the public. For more information call 941-1600, ext. 23.

Karate lessons to begin

Registration is now under way for karate lessons sponsored by the Romulus Recreation Department.

Classes will be offered Mondays from 6 to 8 p.m. at Hale Creek Elementary School or Fridays at the same time at Wick Elementary School.

The classes begin Jan. 30 at Hale Creek and Feb. 3 at Wick, and will continue through May.

Costs for the program is $40 per person, $75 for two family members, $100 for three family members or $125 for four or more family members.

Youth invited to ski

A number of Romulus children are hoping for snow so they can go on a cross country ski trip planned by the Romulus Recreation Department.

The trip is for Romulus children, ages 7 and older, and will be staged Jan. 28 at Van Buren Park. Participants will leave the recreation building on Bibbins at 1 p.m. and return at 5 p.m.

The $5 cost for the trip includes rental, a lesson and hot chocolate.

Recreation department officials will request the height and shoe size of all participants at registration. For more information call 942-6852.

Roman chosen as official newspaper

Romulus city councilmembers Monday evening approved a bid from the Associated Newspapers, publishers of The Romulus Roman, as the official city newspaper.

The approval means all city legal notices must be published in The Romulus Roman.

The decision sparked debate when two councilmen, Ellis Pennington and Randolph Gear, expressed their support for another publication.

The Romulus Roman received the bid with a 5-2 vote.

Chinese chef fills culinary void

By FLORENCE MEEKS
ANP Staff Writer

One restaurateur found a void in the Romulus culinary marketplace and he decided to fill it.

When the doors of China Chef on Wayne Road opened Jan. 9, it became the exclusive Chinese Restaurant for the community.

"I know there is a demand for Chinese food in Romulus," said Peter Choi, restaurant owner and manager. Because of that demand, Choi decided to close his restaurant in Livonia four months ago and relocate.

Choi is confident business will be good in Romulus. Last weekend, in fact, his restaurant was packed.

"The first week we were pretty busy," he said. "We kept customers waiting...we've now improved our service."

After 15 years in the restaurant business, Choi said he enjoys the challenges of his new venture.

Choi said serving Americans Chinese food poses special challenges.

"We cook for Chinese a little different than we cook for Americans," he said. For instance, Choi explained, Orientals tend to prefer dishes with whole chickens with the bones. Americans prefer dishes with boneless chicken breast such as almond boneless chicken.

Tastes have changed during Choi's career.

"Ten years ago, not so many people liked spicy foods," he said. Today Szechuan food, which is very spicy, is popular with American customers.

"So many competitions in Michigan, the quality is very important," Choi said.

To learn to provide this quality, Choi spent five years studying Chinese cooking in Hong Kong when he was a young man.

While offering a tour of his restaurant kitchen, Choi pointed out four gigantic woks.

"Cooking here is much different than cooking at home," Choi said with a smile. He said his wife is better with home cooking than he is.

Actually, the art of Chinese cooking has attracted many members of Choi's family. He has a brother in Grand Rapids, a brother in Lansing, two brothers in Florida and one sister in Royal Oak. All of them operate Chinese restaurants.

Larger site sought for recreation facility

By FLORENCE MEEKS
ANP Staff Writer

The proposed recreation center for Romulus may become part of a larger complex than thought. A plot of land being considered as a site for a city-owned golf course, is also being considered for the recreation center.

Originally, members of the recreation advisory committee were considering property near Romulus City Hall for the center, but now they are looking for more room.

One of the sites being considered, according to Recreation Center director Debbie Dick, is a 200-acre plot of city-owned property off Wick Road, south of Wayne Road. That site may also be home to a city golf course.

"We would have room for growth and expansion," Dick said. "It would be a nice activity area."

Another benefit is proximity to two public schools: Wick elementary and North Junior High School. Romulus school officials have expressed interest in the recreation center project in the past.

"The only bad thing is it's not really a central location," Dick said. "In February, we hope to have more specific plans."

For now, committee members have ideas for the actual recreation building. The 50,000-square-foot facility would provide meeting rooms for community organizations and a banquet hall which could be rented. In addition, the facility would provide a gymnasium with a running and walking track above, as well as racquetball, handball and wallyball courts.

Also under consideration is a small area set aside for those who bring children to the center.

"It would not be a day care center," Dick stressed.

Instead, babysitting service would be provided while parents utilize the center, she explained.

Dick pointed out that committee members are trying to keep the costs of the recreation center down by proposing it be built on land already owned by the city.

City officials are currently seeking bids for a golf course feasibility study.

Officials seek feasibility study for proposed city golf course

By FLORENCE MEEKS
ANP Staff Writer

Although a city-owned golf course remains a long-range goal, Romulus officials agree planning should begin now.

The project was proposed by Mayor Beverly McAnally in November. Councilmembers agreed to seek proposals for such a venture and will investigate the cost of a feasibility study.

The Shady Hollow golf course, the only course in the city, may be converted for other uses in the near future.

Approximately 200 acres of city-owned property off Wick Road south of Wayne Road is being considered as a possible site.

This week, Community Development Director Dennis Oakes plans to request bids for feasibility studies on the project. Results from the bid request should be available within four or five weeks.

The feasibility study should indicate a demand exists for a golf course and the potential revenue for such a venture.

Oakes plans to request proposals from five or six consulting firms. After receiving responses, it would be up to councilmembers to decide if they want to fund such a study.

"A golf course conveys a good quality-of-life image," he said. "It certainly could be beneficial to Romulus."

Partners

Members of the business community also expressed pleasure with the partnership program. Bud Cook, training manager for the Chevrolet-Pontiac-Canada Group explained why his organization became involved.

"What we need to do in industry is take a real look at our employees," Cook said. "We found we need some different skills than what the schools are currently offering."

Cook said industry is looking for quantitative skills, computer literacy and strong communication skills. He said not enough young people are leaving high school with those abilities.

Those at the kick-off ceremony were also addressed by Elaine Gordon, partnerships coordinator for the Michigan Department of Education.

"We are in very crucial competition in an international marketplace where our competitors are not slowing down," she said. "Our biggest enemy in this country is apathy and satisfaction with status quo."

Some partnerships include:

- Romulus High School and Chevrolet-Pontiac-Canada Group
 - Romulus Adult Education and Romulus Hotel Association
 - Romulus Adult Education and Chevrolet-Pontiac-Canada Group
 - Romulus High School and Romulus Hotel Association
 - Romulus High School and Wayne County Community College
 - Halecreek Elementary School and Federal Mogul Corporation
 - Romulus Junior High School and Romulus Hotel Association
 - Barth Elementary School and Security Bank and Trust
- Upcoming projects for the partnerships include tours, speakers and a job fair for adult education students.

Dropout received.

"We're really looking forward to getting something accomplished," said Cara Cichowski, president of the Romulus High School student government. Cichowski said student government has discussed the drop-out problem in the past, but the symposium will provide an opportunity to act on the problem.

The drop-out rate at Romulus High School is not known, but Dolan suspects it is greater than it should be.

Dolan added that dropouts are really a national phenomenon; Romulus students have simply decided to take a look at what causes the problem.

Administrators and teachers throughout the country are concerned that not all students see the value of education," Dolan said.

Ed Clark, director of the Romulus Partnership for Education program, emphasized that the symposium is a community-wide effort to attack a community problem.

Students will form small study groups during the first part of the symposium. Each group will focus on one possible reason for students to drop out of school — substance abuse, stress or parental input, etc.

During the afternoon session, business leaders will join the student groups to discuss possible solutions to these specific problems.

"We're going to bombard the community with ideas," Clark added.

"We are not saying we have a problem that is out of hand...Our drop-out rate is no higher than any other in the area, but we feel we can do better," Clark said.

Clark said anyone interested in participating in the symposium may call the Romulus High School or Adult Education Building.

town of Tuskegee, Alabama and at the Tuskegee Institute.

Many of the graduates went on to fight the aerial war over North Africa and Europe. The "Black Redtail Angels" had a reputation for never losing the bomber planes they were assigned to escort.

Roundtree said vision problems prevented him from becoming a combat pilot, but he remains an active member of the Tuskegee Airmen. He helped establish a museum for the group, in Detroit, in 1972. Today 33 chapters exist throughout the world.

"We're attempting now to expand it," Roundtree said. "...that keeps us pretty busy."

Roundtree recalled the type of treatment he and other airmen received while in Tuskegee. The airplanes were dilapidated, black officers paid dues for the officers club but were never allowed inside and black trainees were forced to eat outside with their mess gear, while the others ate in a cafeteria.

"On one occasion we broke the locks down, sat down and ate," Roundtree said.

"We want youngsters to understand that whatever the obstacle is...you can still succeed," Roundtree carried that attitude with him during 14 years of teaching in Detroit and 15 years as an administrator for Detroit schools and for Wayne County Community College. He retired from those positions.

However, Roundtree has not slowed down. Two weeks ago, he was appointed to the property disposition committee for Romulus. He and six other members keep track of property which reverts to the city by default.

"I think it will be quite a challenge," he said.

Roundtree is also active with the Venture Center Management Board of the Downriver Community Conference. The group provides counseling and legal advice for small business owners in the area.

Airport landing fees debated

Adjusted aircraft landing fees remain a possibility for Detroit Metropolitan Airport and Willow Run Airport.

The fee adjustment is being considered by the Committee on Roads, Airports and Public Services of the Wayne County Board of Commissioners. Committee members may establish a fee for all aircraft that land at Detroit Metropolitan Airport based on size, according to Al Montgomery, committee clerk. The smallest fee, $7 for all aircrafts under 6,000 pounds, would affect the most people, Montgomery said.

Aircraft landing at Willow Run Airport would be subject to a 25-percent increase based on size, Montgomery continued. However, at Willow Run, the fees would not apply to aircrafts based at the airport.

Thursday, during a public hearing addressing the issue, representatives of the tenant's association for the airports asked committee members to postpone their decision. The decision will be made after a second public hearing which was planned for Jan. 26 at 2 p.m. at Hearing Room 402 of the Wayne County Building in Detroit.

City of Belleville Notice of Public Hearing

A Board of Appeals Hearing will be held Tuesday, February 7, 1989 at 7:00 p.m. in City of Belleville Council Chambers at 6 Main St., Belleville, Michigan 48111.

Appellant is requesting proposed use of Accessory use structure to include display, repair and storage of building materials. Zoning Ord. #65-86, Sect. 15.11 (g) requires that the use of an "accessory use" structure, not used for motor vehicles, must be approved by Board of Appeals. Address of Appeal being made is 342 Main Street, East side of Street between 3rd and 4th street. (new construction) Sales and display for Builder's Office.

Detroit auto show is boost for local dealers

By FLORENCE MEEKS
ANP Staff Writer

Although the 1989 North American International Auto Show is history, the excitement lingers for area auto dealers.

Most local auto dealers said they noticed an increase in business one or two days after the show ended and expect the trend to continue for weeks.

"On Monday night it was very strong," said Brian Leggett, general manager of John Rogin Buick, in Wayne. Leggett expects business to remain strong for the next two or three weeks as more people digest what they saw at the show.

"We're just starting to get the people," said Sid Charnock of Sid Charnock Oldsmobile, in Dearborn. "This is such a big show...we expect this year to be busier than most," he said.

Paul Moran, sales manager of Fox Hills Chrysler Plymouth, in Plymouth, said he is sure the auto show has increased business as well.

"Most of the people I've been selling to have been to the auto show," he said. "It's probably the nicest auto show we've ever been to," Moran continued. "I was really surprised about how much action there was on the domestic side compared to the imports."

Other local dealers shared Moran's excitement.

"Monday was just red hot," said Glenn Shelby, sales manager of Rosenau Honda, in Inkster. "What happened is Monday a lot of people were off for Martin Luther King Jr. Day," he said. That factor, along with interest in new cars sparked by the auto show, set the stage for heavy business, Shelby said.

If the auto show does not convince consumers to buy a new car this year, at least it arouses curiosity, some dealers remarked.

"One of the first things you realize is people are coming in asking for information on new models," said Brian Leon, general manager of Dick Scott Dodge, in Plymouth.

Leon said he suspected the auto show would be good for business this year long before it started. He supplied each of his salespeople with 10 tickets to distribute to good customers.

Some people at the show were not sure if the displays would actually be for sale or if they were cars of the future," said Dennis Hite, sales manager of Mark Chevrolet, in Wayne.

At most area Ford dealers, the newly designed Thunderbird, the Taurus and the Probe have intrigued consumers.

"They're looking for something comfortable, reasonable and reliable," said Gossman.

"We get reaction on all of them," said Larry Kroll, director of sales for Atchinson Ford, in Belleville.

"We've had an influx of people wanting to see the new Thunderbird," said Tom Cameron, general manager of Jack Demmer Ford, in Wayne.

Walt Winnicki, a salesman for North Brothers Ford, in Westland, said consumers are still showing interest in Escorts and Festivas, which are considered economy cars.

"People are noticing there is quality in the lower-priced cars," he said.

Auto thefts targeted by area group

By JIM RINK
ANP Staff Writer

Auto theft in western Wayne County is serious business.

The 12 communities of Belleville, Canton Township, Northville, Northville Township, Plymouth, Redford, Romulus, Wayne, Westland and Van Buren Township have more auto thefts per year than in 58 counties in Michigan.

Only in Wayne and Oakland counties is the problem more epidemic.

The Automobile Theft Prevention Authority was created by the state legislature in 1986 to address the ever-increasing problems caused by car theft.

The ATPA, under the auspices of Public Act 10, mandates that insurance companies must collect $1 per year for each automobile insured. This money, approximately $1.5 million per year, goes to various auto theft task forces statewide in the form of grants awarded by the ATPA.

Recently, the ATPA awarded a $322,366 grant to the Western Wayne Auto Theft Elimination Effort.

"We will provide service to any community in western Wayne County," said Lt. Chris Hogan, commanding officer of WWATEE. "We will work against any auto theft group impacting on western Wayne County."

Using funds provided by ATPA, the western Wayne task force maintains a staff of five police officers from five local communities as well as seven officers from the criminal investigation division of the Michigan State Police post in Livonia.

Auto thefts in western Wayne County have decreased by 9.5 percent in 1988, a substantial figure, said Hogan, when compared to a nationwide increase of five percent.

"The ATPA is a creative and innovative way for the state to go," Hogan said. "Many states are now looking at what we've done."

Hogan said one of the big problems encountered by the task force in western Wayne County is chop shop operations which are established in relatively remote, rural areas.

In late June, officers from the auto theft unit arrested a 22-year-old Detroit man, charged with operating a chop shop in Canton Township at Jones Auto Repair, 41889 Joy Road.

From May 1, 1987 to October 1988, the task force has arrested 66 individuals on 127 felony counts and recovered 126 vehicles worth more than $2 million.

Traffic problems are purpose of area group

By TERRY JACOBY
ANP Staff Writer

Members of the Wayne County Traffic Safety Committee are keeping their eyes open for traffic problems.

Flat Rock Police Chief Raymond Hoffman has been named the new chairman for the committee.

The Wayne County Traffic Safety committee, formed in 1987, consists of law enforcement and judicial officials, traffic engineers and other public officials who promote coordination between public and private agencies to improve traffic safety.

Committee members study traffic problems in Wayne County and present findings to the proper agency. They also offer suggestions for solving the problems.

"We can't force police departments or school districts to take any action, but considering the people on the committee, they usually listen," Hoffman said.

"Once we locate a problem, we contact the local police department and inform them of our findings, and it's up to the individual department to deal with it. The resources that they would need are there to assist them in dealing with the risk and reducing it because of the people on this committee."

Local participants include State Representative Justine Barnes (D-Westland), State Senator William Faust (D-Westland), new Romulus Police Chief Fred Dansby, Lt. David Early from the Romulus Police Department, Dr. James Greiner and Dr. Tom Beltromo from the Wayne County Intermediate School District and Dave Harris from the secretary of state office in Inkster.

"The group represents different segments from the county and different groups that could help identify problems and try to solve them," Hoffman said.

The committee, which meets once a month, has addressed several problems including the school bus-stop law, drunk driving and traffic accident hot spots.

"We have recently dealt with the problem of motorists disregarding school busses that stop and have their red lights flashing," Hoffman said. The committee distributed an information sheet on school bus safety rules.

This secret is almost a sinful one just desserts

sue willett

After much consideration and fully cognizant of the damage possible to diets throughout the area, I have decided to finally reveal one of my most treasured (and fattening) recipes.

This is one of those desserts that causes moans of pleasure from guests and family members alike as the first morsel hits the taste buds. This stuff is so good, it is almost, I said almost, obscene. When reading recipes for cakes characterized in that manner, I often smile. Nothing, in my recollection, comes close to this cheesecake in richness and pure taste pleasure.

This cake does not freeze well, although it can be made somewhat in advance of a special occasion dinner and kept refrigerated. In fact, I think a minimum stay in an odor-free refrigerator can do nothing but enhance the flavor, although a slight rest at room temperature just before serving will provide an even more velvety texture.

This will never thrill those who like their desserts light and calorie-free as it is unbearably rich and fattening. It does not complement a heavy meal, although after a lighter entree, such as fish or poultry, it is truly wonderful.

Throughout the years, I have been begged, cajoled and even offered bribes to reveal the secret of this wonderful cake. Frankly, I haven't been too liberal with the recipe because it is so simple, I was somewhat embarrassed at all the attention it received. I mean, I didn't want everyone to know how easy this magnificent creation really is.

Perhaps I'm mellowing in my old age, because after much begging from several friends, I did vow to offer the recipe to the public in the first "Just Desserts" of the year. Here it is. Enjoy.

Chocolate turtle cheesecake

2 cups vanilla wafer crumbs
6 tablespoons margarine, melted

Combine crumbs and margarine and press onto bottom and sides of a 9-inch springform pan. Bake at 350 degrees for 10 minutes.

For the filling:

1 14-ounce bag caramels
1 5-ounce can evaporated milk
1 cup chopped pecans, toasted
1 8-ounce package cream cheese, softened
1/2 cup sugar
1 teaspoon vanilla
2 eggs
1/2 cup semi-sweet chocolate pieces, melted

In 1 1/2-quart heavy saucepan, melt caramels with milk over low heat, stirring frequently, until smooth. Pour over crust. Top with pecans. Combine cream cheese, sugar and vanilla, mixing at medium speed on electric mixer until well blended. Add eggs, one at a time, mixing well after each addition. Blend in chocolate and pour over pecans. Bake at 350 degrees for 40 minutes. Loosen cake from rim of pan. Cool before removing rim of pan. Chill. Garnish with sweetened whipped cream and additional chopped nuts.

Tired of that New Year's resolution diet already? Is counting calories becoming an old habit?

Then it's time for a jump-start to the old diet and the addition of a few dieting secrets to make becoming a slimmer you a bit easier.

Margaret Laramie, manager of the Cambridge Diet Center, in Belleville, admits that dieting isn't easy. However, attitude is the key ingredient to every successful health plan.

A healthy diet is as easy as common sense, Laramie said.

"Of course, very important is a diet low in fat," Laramie said. "When choosing meat, choose lean meats. Tend toward chicken, turkey and fish."

The common-sense approach to a diet includes baking and broiling foods, rather than frying. Seasoning with herbs is much better than salt. Reducing the size of portions is also a key.

Creativity is also crucial.

Creativity is the longevity ingredient in diets, according to Joseph Less, a chef at Art's Industrial Catering, in Westland. A chef for five and one-half years, Less marinates foods to add moisture and flavor and to eliminate costly calories.

"I would recommend marinating chicken in white wine or pineapple juice overnight," Less said. "When you put the chicken in the pan, you don't need to cook with oil."

In addition to chicken, Less is also enthusiastic about the other "less" meats - seafood and lamb. "Less" vegetables are also on his list of custom-made munchies, including raw vegetables marinated in Italian dressing.

Less has made a healthy style of eating his way of life. Although some would say he is "always on a diet" and constantly watches his calorie intake, he believes the short-term sacrifice is worth the long-term gain.

"It's not just being health conscious. You feel better," Less explained.

Here are a few of Laramie's and Less's secrets to maintaining a balanced, healthy diet.

Caesar salad

2 to 3 eggs
1 lemon
Dash Worcestershire sauce
1 teaspoon Dijon mustard
3 tablespoons olive oil
Red vinegar (to taste)
3 anchovies
1 clove garlic
Romaine lettuce
Parmesan cheese

Drop eggs in pot of boiling water. Cook 3 minutes. Remove. Break eggs and scrape contents into large bowl. Add juice from lemon, sauce, mustard, oil, vinegar, anchovies and minced garlic. Mix well. When ready to serve, pour over lettuce and top with parmesan cheese.

Creativity is key to a good diet

Area chefs Joseph Less (left) and his assistant, Rich Serna, believe creativity is the secret to maintain a good diet and healthy lifestyle. The two advocate good eating habits, including eating right and preparing food without fats and oils. ANP photo by Ann Grimes/staff photographer

Cauliflower salad

1 cup thinly sliced cauliflower
3 sliced olives
1 teaspoon pimento, chopped
1 tablespoon tarragon vinegar or 1 tablespoon vinegar with
1/2 teaspoon dried tarragon

Mix above ingredients lightly. Let set 1 hour. Serve chilled. If cooked cauliflower is preferred, steam until tender. Then mix with other ingredients and chill. Freshly ground pepper to taste is optional addition.

Broiled salmon

1 1/2 pounds silver salmon fillet
4 teaspoons capers
2 lemons, thinly sliced
1/2 cup yellow or white onion, thinly sliced

Broil salmon and remove skin. In a small frying pan, combine capers, lemons and onions and quickly heat. Pour over broiled salmon. Makes 4 servings, 4 ounces each.

Mexican orange chicken

1 1/2 cups orange juice
1 cup chopped onions, large chunks
1/2 teaspoon cloves
2 teaspoons cinnamon
1/2 cup white raisins
2 skinless chicken breasts (boneless optional)
Wild rice
Brown rice

Spray large pan with Pam. Brown chicken breasts on both sides. Sprinkle both sides with spices. Pour in juice, onions and raisins. Cover and simmer until chicken is tender (approximately 1/2 hour). Pour chicken mixture on combination of cooked rice.

Low-cal chip dip

2 cups plain nonfat yogurt
1/2 cup 1-percent cottage cheese
Italian seasoning, no sodium

Combine ingredients. Add seasoning to taste. Garnish with chopped green onions. Chill and serve.

Tuna-cheese baked patties

1/2 of 6 1/2 ounce can water-packed white tuna
1 teaspoon minced onion
1/4 cup skim milk
1 teaspoon Worcestershire sauce
1/2 teaspoon lemon juice
1 egg yolk, beaten
1/8 cup soft, whole wheat bread crumbs
2 teaspoons water
1 teaspoon margarine
1 teaspoon all-purpose flour
1 teaspoon chopped, fresh parsley
1/4 teaspoon Dijon mustard
Dash pepper
2 teaspoons shredded Swiss cheese
1 egg
1/4 cup fine, dry breadcrumbs

Place tuna in a colander. Rinse under cold tap water 1 minute. Set colander aside. Allow tuna to drain 1 minute. Melt margarine in a large skillet over low heat. Add onion and saute until tender. Add flour, stirring until smooth. Cook 1 minute, stirring constantly. Gradually add milk, stirring constantly, until thickened and bubbly. Remove from heat. Stir in reserved tuna, parsley and next 7 ingredients. Cover and chill thoroughly.

Shape into a patty. Combine egg and water. Beat well. Dip in egg mixture. Dredge in bread crumbs to coat lightly. Place in a baking dish. Bake at 350 degrees for 20 minutes or until lightly browned. Makes 1 serving.

Cooked Italian vegetables

1 cup sliced zucchini
1 cup yellow crook-neck squash
1 cup sliced onions
2 medium tomatoes (peeled, seeded and diced)
1 cup sliced mushrooms
1 clove garlic, mashed
1 cup vermouth, dry
2 tablespoons Italian herbs
Low-sodium salt substitute to taste
White pepper to taste

Put above ingredients in pot and cover. Simmer over medium to low heat until tender, approximately 20 minutes. Serves 4.

Stir-fry chicken

2 boneless, skinless chicken breasts
Fresh pea pods
Green peppers
Red peppers
Zucchini
2 tablespoons teriyaki sauce
1 cup pineapple juice
Dash ginger root (optional)

Cut meat in bite-size pieces and marinate in last 3 ingredients overnight or 24 hours. Simmer meat with leftover juice in large skillet. When meat is nearly tender, add vegetables. Do not overcook. When meat is tender, meal is done. A number of garden vegetables, such as broccoli and carrots, may be substituted for those used in the recipe.

Newspaper to name 1988 person of the year winner

Who was the most influential and important newsmaker in western Wayne County during 1988?

Officials from the Associated Newspapers want their readers to decide.

The newspaper group is sponsoring the 1988 Person of the Year Award for individuals residing in or doing business in the areas served by the newspapers. One individual will be chosen the person of the year, and five runners-up will also be honored - one from each of the five remaining newspaper coverage areas.

Nominations will be accepted until 5 p.m. Thursday, Jan. 26 at the main office of the newspaper, 35540 Michigan Ave., Wayne.

This is an extension of an earlier-set deadline.

Nominations may be informal in nature and may be written on any piece of paper. Entry forms must list the following information: nominee name, business or personal address, city, affiliation name (if member of business or organization), phone number, reason this person should be the person of the year, nominator's name, address and phone number.

The reason for nominating should include as many points as possible to demonstrate a person's influential powers and newsworthiness during 1988.

Winners will be highlighted in the Wednesday, Feb. 8 edition of the six Associated Newspapers. A profile of each winner will be included, along with photographs.

Individuals nominated for the person-of-the-year award do not necessarily need to be affiliated with a political group, civic organization or business. Scope of the award is to honor outstanding community activists and those who have contributed much to the betterment of western Wayne County.

This is the second year for the annual contest. Last year, several residents participated and nominated community leaders and activists, friends and local heroes.

"We sponsor this contest to officially recognize some of the extraordinary works performed by residents in the communities we serve," explained

Associated Newspapers Managing Editor Ray Day. "Volunteers, public servants and exemplary citizens are plentiful in this area. We believe those people are the backbone of every program we all enjoy, and we hope this award provides a small token of our gratitude and a mandate for these residents to continue their efforts."

Past nominees have included state lawmakers and local politicians, policemen, educators, parents, business officials, leaders of local clubs and organizations, students and "exemplary citizens."

State Rep. James Kosteva (D-

Canton Township) was named the 1987 Associated Newspapers Person of the Year. He was honored for his never-ending support of his constituency, including work on the Wayne County bailout package and securing of several local grants.

The person of the year will receive an engraved plaque. Runners-up receive smaller plaque-certificates. All winners will be featured in the Suburban Living section of the six Associated Newspapers.

The Associated Newspapers publishes The Wayne Eagle, The Westland Eagle, The Canton Eagle, The Belleville Enterprise, The Romulus Roman and The Inkster Ledger-Star.

Romulus hosts league championship

By TOM MOORADIAN
ANP Staff Writer

With a victory at the Monroe Invitational and a second-place finish at the prestigious Toledo Waite Tournament, Romulus and first-year Coach Norm Butler appear ready to defend their South Central Conference wrestling title.

The Eagles will place their crown on the SCC block Saturday and, if their dual meet record against league and out-of-league opponents means anything, then they should retain the championship.

Romulus boasts a perfect 3-0 league and a 14-1 overall record. They have also been very impressive at tournaments this year. The Eagles will wrap up the dual meet phase of the season Thursday night at Ann Arbor Huron.

"If our family of wrestlers wrestle to its potential, we should be able to repeat," said a cautious Butler, who is rounding out his first year as head coach.

The Eagles left little doubt in anyone's mind which team was the best at Canton. They piled up 166 points, whipping their nearest rival, Monroe, by approximately 50 points. Monroe had 119 points.

Trailing the two leaders in the final standings were: Monroe Jefferson (117), Tecumseh (107), Ida (95), Adrian (91.5), Saline (93.5), Dundee (57) and Monroe Catholic Central (43).

It was Romulus' second major tournament victory.

Romulus had four gold medal winners: Dave Gehringer, a 119-pounder pinned Paul Lorichon of Tecumseh in 28 seconds for his gold, and Tim Kosikowski picked up his 33rd victory in 34 outings at the expense of 130-pound opponent, Brad Nadig of Saline, 6-1. Bruce Boyd also was a Romulus winner, beating Mark Nadig of Saline, 19-7, in the 135-pound class, and Rick Champagne walked off the mats with his 31st victory as he carved out a 10-2 victory over Ida's Doug Spotts in the 152-pound class.

Romulus had three runners-up in 140-pounder Brian Farnan, who lost 4-0 to Joey Dunn of Monroe Jefferson; Scott Murawski, a 145-pounder, settled for a silver after losing a close 3-2 decision to Rod Malinczak; and Ralph Farrell also finished with a silver after he was pinned in 2:50 of the second period in the 171-pound class by Dan Kinkaid of Dundee.

Other Romulus medalists included Bill Gehringer (third-103); Dan Dufore(fourth-189).

At Toledo Waite, Romulus competed against some of the finest high school teams in Ohio and managed to finish second only to St. Edwards. St. Edwards won the team trophy with 201 while Romulus was awarded the runner-up trophy thanks to 187.5 points and Central of Ohio finished third in a field of 24 teams thanks to a 162.5 point total.

Heavyweight Paul Nowicki was the lone Romulus gold medal winner. He pinned John Scherzer of St. Francis of Ohio in the second period. Nowicki, a runner-up in the state a year ago, also was awarded the "Hustler's Award" at Waite.

Boyd, a 135-pounder, was a runner-up for Romulus. Other Romulus medal winners included: Kosikowski (third- 130); Champagne (third - 152); Farnan (fourth - 140); Dave Gehringer (fifth - 119); Dufore (fifth - 189) and Murawski (sixth - 145).

In dual meet competition last week, the Eagles buried Pioneer 55-7 and turned back Adrian earlier in the week, 39-21. Officially in the league since 1987, Romulus has been designated as the host for the 1989 South Central Conference Championships which will begin at 10 a.m. on Saturday.

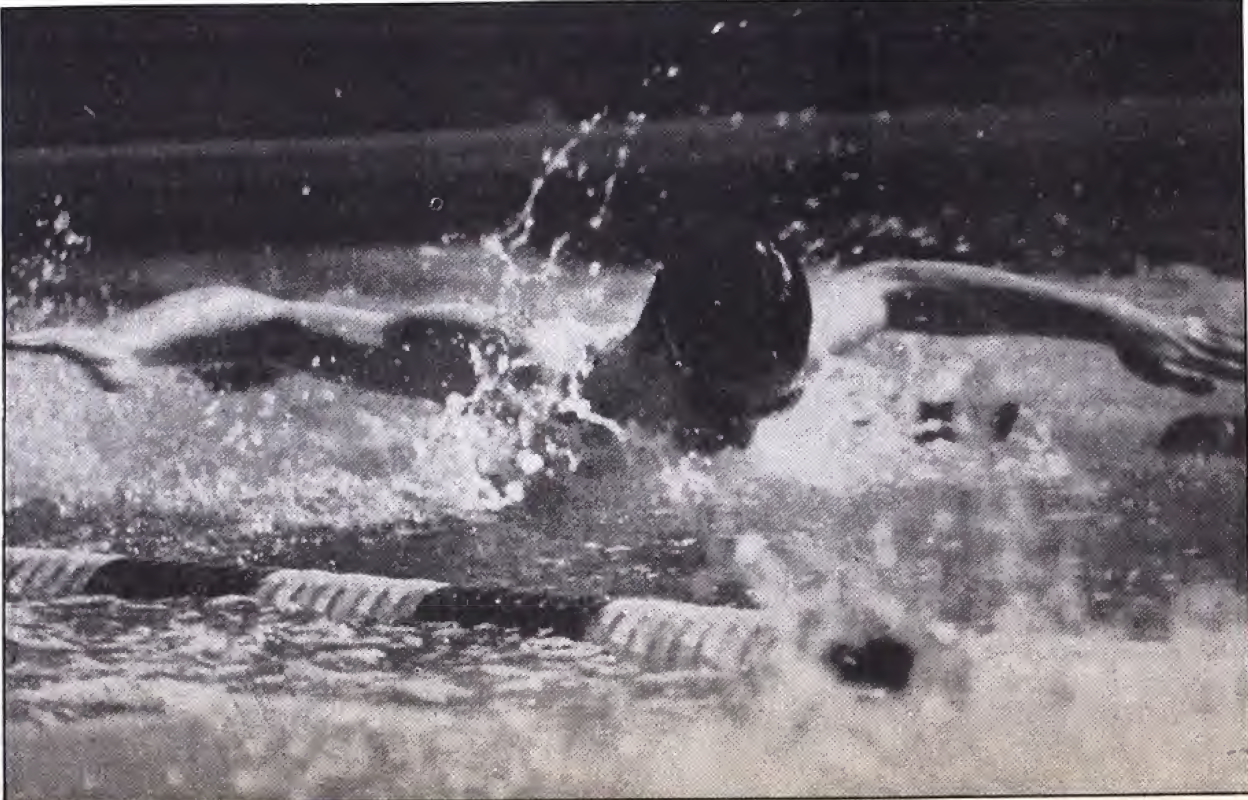

Tigers swim toward title

With little opposition, undefeated Belleville cleared Southgate Anderson Thursday evening 121-52 to edge closer to a showdown with Wayne Memorial for the Wolverine 'A' Conference swim lead.

Coach Bill Snider and his Tigers are undefeated in four Wolverine 'A' Conference dual meets, a record that Coach Jim McPartlin's Zebras have matched. Their anticipated showdown with Wayne will determine which team will enter the league championships without a blemish.

The two teams were originally scheduled to meet this Thursday but because Wayne is hosting the Western Wayne Invitational this weekend, the meet between the conference rivals was postponed.

Belleville will entertain Wayne at 7 p.m. Feb. 7.

In the meantime, Belleville stretched its conference winning streak to four and improved its overall mark to 6-2 on the season. (The Tigers were scheduled to meet Dearborn Edsel Ford last night).

Snider was able to move some of his swimmers around against the winless

Anderson club. He used Duane Townsend, Scott Sikes, Brian Bogardus and Mike Bird for the 200-yard medley relay and the four responded with the winning time of 1:57.50.

Robichaud falls to conference cage leaders

By TOM MOORADIAN
ANP Staff Writer

Monte Dennard just shook his head and moaned as he went over his team's free throw performance.

"We didn't hit them down the stretch - that's what did it to us," Dennard said, referring to the free throws after his Robichaud Bulldogs fell to Highland Park, 65-58, Friday night. "That was the key, I believe, to this game. We had our chances but couldn't put those clutch free throws away."

The loss tossed the defending Suburban Athletic Conference co-champs two games off the pace the Parkers have set. The Bulldogs are now 3-2 (7-4 overall) in the SAC, while Highland Park has won all five of its conference games.

The Bulldogs are going to need some help if they hope to get back into the SAC title race.

Robichaud clashes with Oak Park on Friday. The game will bring down the curtains to the first round of conference competition.

The Highland Park game was a close one right to the finish. Robichaud's scoring duo of Michael Aaron and Rod James gave the Parkers fits as they combined for 38 of their team's 58 points, but it wasn't enough to overcome the well-balanced scoring assault of the Parkers.

After the first eight minutes, the Parkers had climbed to a 17-12 advantage, but James and Aaron brought their team back in the second stanza as they closed to within one-point of erasing the deficit (29-28) at intermission.

However, Highland Park, led by Arnold Wilson, returned from the locker room and proceeded to outscore their opponents 21-14, that put the winners up by eight at the start of the fourth period. They managed to protect their precarious lead the rest of the way.

Aaron tossed in nine field goals but made only one of four free throw offerings for his 19 points, while James got his 19 thanks to seven direct hits from the floor and a five-of-nine effort at the foul line. The Bulldogs made only 11 of 26 free throws.

Wilson connected on seven from the field and one free throw for his 15.

Earlier in the week, Robichaud humbled River Rouge, 95-63, as James accounted for 24 points and 23 rebounds.

Bulldogs swim to easy win

With three of their swimmers accounting for six of their eight wins, Dearborn Heights Robichaud on Thursday coasted to an easy victory over city and non-conference rival, Crestwood.

Coach Jim Hadley's Bulldogs improved their overall record to 3-3 thanks to the 105-64 trouncing of the Chargers.

Belleville wins Canton tourney

ANP Staff Writer

With their first major invitational victory in their pockets, defending tri-Wolverine 'A' Conference wrestling champs, Belleville, will head for the conference championships this weekend.

Coach Gerald Malecek's Tigers captured the Plymouth Canton Wrestling Tournament title on Saturday, amassing 30 points more than the second-place finishing team, Southfield Lathrup.

Belleville garnered 145.5 points, which included five gold medal winners, while Lathrup piled up 112.5.

Following the first and second place teams were: Livonia Stevenson (104), Plymouth Canton (65), Livonia Churchill (64), Ann Arbor Gabriel Richard (58), Livonia Franklin (50), Farmington High (27) and Farmington Harrison (25).

"The tournament victory is a good confidence builder," said Malecek, "and I hope this will provide us with the momentum for the league championships."

Belleville shares the league title with Southgate Anderson and Monroe. However, Anderson won a decisive victory over the Tigers in a head on dual meet, which prompted Malecek to comment that "Anderson is definitely the team to beat."

"Don't count Monroe or Trenton out of it, Malecek cautioned."

And what about the Tigers of Belleville, coach?

"If we wrestle to our capabilities, we could possibly surface with the leaders, maybe, share in the title like we did last year."

Belleville will carry a 5-1 league and a 7-1 overall record.

At Canton, the five Belleville winners included: Steve Davis (112), Brian Dorow (130), Joe Yuhas (140), Mike Braswell (160) and Jeff Komaromi (189).

The Tigers had a second-place medalist in Rob Lucas, at 145; and a pair of third-place medalists thanks to Anthony Richendollar (171) and heavyweight Gary Smallwood.

Earlier in the week, Belleville destroyed Wayne Memorial 50-12 in a conference meeting.

Carlson explodes early to stop New Boston Huron cagers, 71-56

By TOM MOORADIAN
ANP Staff Writer

League-leading Carlson rode the crest of a 24-9 first period to a 71-56 victory over New Boston Huron Friday night to remain undefeated in seven basketball outings in the Huron Conference.

Although the Chiefs of Huron came back and made a game of it the rest of the way, they never were able to come within 10 the final three periods.

"You're never happy when you lose a game," said Huron Coach Larry Swick, "but I must say that, after the first quarter, I was happy at the overall team performance. We stayed with them the rest of the way."

With senior Huron guards Mike Harrison and Mike Debozy supplying the scoring power, the Chiefs exchanged baskets evenly with the undefeated league-leader. Both teams put 19 points on the scoreboard in the second period as Carlson took a 43-28 advantage into the locker room.

Playing a more deliberate game in the third period, which kept the scoring low, Carlson surfaced with an 11-9 edge during the eight-minute period, enabling them to take a 17-point lead (54-37) into the final stanza.

Harrison, who made three 3-pointers in his five field goals, added nine of 13 at the free throw line to come away with sharing the individual scoring honors with Carlson's 6-8 Chris Boller, who also had 22 points.

Boller was near-perfect at the foul line, where he canned 10 of 11 to go along with his six field goals.

The loss dipped the Chiefs' record to 1-6 in the conference and 2-9 for the season; Carlson continues to lead the conference pack with an unblemished 7-0 mark.

Eric Snider, the coach's son, continued his winning performance as he covered the 200-yard freestyle in 1:52.06. Teammate Bogardus hit the wall in the 200-yard individual medley in the winning time of 2:15.69.

Belleville diver Corey Frost picked up 172.75 points to win the diving competition.

In the 100-yard butterfly, Belleville touched in first thanks to Kevin Killough who was clocked in 1:06.69, while the Tigers also were first in the 500-yard freestyle. Scott Overholt turned in a 5:25.48 to give the Tigers the event.

Belleville also stashed away the 100-yard backstroke and the 100-yard breaststroke with Duane Townsend (1:08.8) and Sikes (1:14.4), respectively. They wrapped up the meet with a victory in the 400-yard freestyle relay as Eric Sattler, Pat Reed, Doug Duff and Mike Bird combined for the winning time of 3:49.9.

Eagles fall

Adrian knocks Romulus out of first place

By TOM MOORADIAN
ANP Staff Writer

Romulus had ample opportunities - but wouldn't cash them in.

Consequently, Coach Dan Henry and his Eagles fell from first place Friday night in the South Central Conference basketball standings and, as the week begins, find themselves looking up at Ann Arbor Huron and Ann Arbor Pioneer.

Pioneer and Huron, by virtue of their identical 3-1 won-lost conference records, share the top billing, while Romulus has slipped to second place (2-2).

"We had our chances," noted Henry after his troops lost to Adrian in a low-scoring 54-41 game. "Even though the game was closer than the final score indicates, it still goes in the record book as a loss. A heart-breaking one at that, because I felt and I am sure the boys also knew that we could have won it."

A Romulus victory would have put three teams on top and, with the Eagles flying to Pioneer on Friday, it would have been an interesting week. Romulus beat the Pioneers the first time around. However, this time the Ann Arbor cagers will have the home court advantage - and that's good for at least 10 points, some coaches will tell you.

Against Adrian, the Eagles

apparently forgot to win games you also have to score baskets, buckets of them. They produced 41 points, their lowest output in one game this year and probably in this decade.

That isn't saying much for the offense-minded Romulus team, which scored a total of 16 points for their total efforts in the second and fourth periods.

Obviously, Adrian wasn't sitting around and waiting for the Eagles to wake up. They took advantage of the Eagles' poor eyesight and jumped from a 11-11 first period advantage to a 35-19 margin at halftime.

Although Romulus cut into the Adrian lead by outscoring their rivals 14-10 in the third period, Adrian came back and played a cat-and-mouse game the final eight minutes to salt the game away.

Romulus again could have won this game at the free throw line, where they canned only five of 19 shots.

"I just don't know what it is," Henry said in his attempt to explain the team's poor foul-shooting performance. "We have worked overtime in hopes of correcting the situation but it obviously isn't helping."

Adrian also had its problems at the line. They made 11 of 21, but outscored the Eagles 17-15 in the field (The winners also made three 3-pointers compared to Romulus' two).

Grayam Scott continued to set his team's scoring pace. Scott connected on eight field goals but made two of seven free throws for a team high 18 points. Adrian's Scott McKelvey led all scorers with 21.

Earlier in the week Romulus turned back non-conference rival, Taylor Truman, 64-59, as Arol Trinity came up with 26 points and Diya Muhammed added 14 for the winners.

A 26-16 Romulus scoring edge in the third period convinced Truman it was no match for the Eagles this season.

We Have Moved!

Since 1947, we have been doing business from our original location at 822 E. Michigan Ave., in Ypsilanti. Now we've moved, but not far, just two miles east to 2800 E. Michigan Avenue, at Ridge Road. We have a brand new, larger showroom and yard, lots of parking and new displays and products. We're keeping our old philosophy, though: High Quality, Great Service, and Competitive Price. Stop in soon and see why we've been the local favorite for over 42 years.

Attention Ford Salaried Employees:
With M-CARE, your medical coverage means you are surrounded.... not just covered.

M-CARE has created a health care network that links the knowledge and resources of the University of Michigan Medical Center with 15 other affiliated hospitals, close to your home.

With the comprehensive primary care services provided by M-CARE physicians throughout a five-county region, you and your family can receive a full range of M-CARE covered benefits right in your neighborhood.

This includes maternity care and hospitalization, immunizations and injections, pediatrics, and preventive health care. And with M-CARE, you're covered for emergencies anywhere in the world.

So sign up for M-CARE, the only HMO from the University of Michigan Medical Center. Now that's coverage that surrounds you.

MIRACLE WEDDINGS

Planning makes perfect day for bride and groom

By THOMAS M. VARCIE

Planning a wedding is like building a puzzle. The only difference is that, in a wedding, all the pieces aren't found in the same box.

That's the dilemma couples planning for weddings are having today, according to area wedding planners. Weddings are complex to plan and demand time and ample preparation.

Decisions are major parts of the planning process. Decisions of a hall, a church, the photographer, the florist and even the honeymoon plague the planning.

Here are a few words of wisdom from wedding planners to aid in making those decisions.

The church and hall

At least one year before the wedding, plans to reserve a church and reception hall should be made, according to Nadine Smale, sales manager at the Mayflower Hotel, in Plymouth. Reception halls are currently being reserved for weddings in 1990 at the Mayflower, and all Saturdays from May through December in 1989 have been booked.

"The people coming in now are telling me to get the hall, then the church. Before, it used to be to get the church and coordinate the date with a hall," Smale said. "If you're looking at a fairly large wedding, a hall should be reserved at least one year in advance."

When couples choose a wedding date, they should search for the hall immediately and be prepared with specific information concerning the wedding, Smale said.

"When they are ready to look at halls, I encourage them to go out places, rather than call on the phone. Then, they should look at how they want their wedding. They have to determine if they want a traditional or contemporary wedding and reception. They should look at prices but not be overly concerned with prices," Smale said. "They should also look at professionalism of the people helping out."

Before reserving a hall, couples should see it completely decorated.

"I tell them to come down and look at the hall when it is decorated for another wedding. They can always go down an hour before another wedding reception begins and see how the hall looks," Smale said. "Ninety-nine percent of the couples will reserve the hall immediately after they see the hall decorated. It's better to see what you're getting first."

Photography and videography

Choosing the photographer and videographer is the next order of business. These professionals should be reserved six to eight months before the wedding, according to officials at Arella Studios, in Dearborn.

The services photographers and videographers provide are similar — coverage at the bride's home, outside the church, inside the church and the reception hall. Many couples opt to have both at their event.

To find a good photographer/videographer, Arella officials said, look for a reputable firm that won't back out of a contract and examine wedding proofs and portraits from other weddings the firm has covered.

Videography is a new part of wedding planning, but it also is increasing in popularity, according to Bill DeAngelis, co-owner of Admiration Video, in Riverview.

"It's just the fact that it's on tape, and it's a condensed version of the wedding and everything that happened," DeAngelis said. "We can tape the ceremony and capture the events throughout the night."

A video is produced and sent to the couple after the wedding. Generally, music is added to the production, and extra events from the wedding are spliced into the tape. Extra copies of the video can usually be purchased.

Videotaping a wedding costs approximately $350.

Women's formal wear

Now, it's off to the bridal shop for the bride-to-be.

Brides can begin the search for bridal gowns at any time, but a suggested purchase time is at least five months before the wedding, according to Barb Horvath, bridal consultant at Miracle Wedding Village and Gift Shop, in Dearborn Heights.

Currently, the most popular gown material is satin with lace appliques. Popular colors include white, ivory and pink.

Bridesmaids dresses, Horvath said, should be much simpler in design than the bride's dress. Tea-length rose and peach-colored dresses are popular.

Headpieces are becoming shorter for the 1980s bride. Most popular are those with banana clips.

"The big thing this year is the banana clip with lace appliques attached. The length of the netting in the back is just below shoulder length, and it's shaped like a fan effect, rather than the traditional straight netting that drapes below the waist," Horvath said. "Most of the girls don't want all that netting. They want more maneuverability."

Wedding dress prices average approximately $565, according to Horvath. Bridesmaids' and dresses for the mothers average $112.

Wedding cakes

The remaining three months before the wedding are, perhaps, the busiest for the bride and groom. To make the wedding heavenly, five steps remain in the planning process.

The bake shop is stop number-one.

"We have several different batters - white standard batter, banana nut, chocolate, marble and yellow. We also have the crumb cake, but not as many people get that," explained Andy Saveski, owner of Crystal Baker, in Canton Township.

Couples looking for cakes should begin the hunt approximately three months before the wedding and make the purchase two months in advance.

Cost is generally $1 per person.

The florist

At approximately the same time the wedding cake is ordered, couples should look for a florist, according to Cathy Graham, owner of Flowers Etc., in Westland. Orders should be made two to three months before the wedding.

One of the biggest changes in floral style, Graham said, has been in the bouquets.

"A lot of the brides are selecting traditional bouquets for themselves and contemporary bouquets for the bridesmaids. The bridesmaids like the contemporary and more stylish look, but the brides want to have the more traditional look," Graham said.

Bridesmaid's bouquets today are becoming more sophisticated, with unusual flowers and designs.

Flowers for the groom have remained unchanged from the past, as grooms continue to order the traditional rose and carnation boutonnieres.

When couples are looking for a florist, Graham offers several words to the wise.

- Be sure the florist takes a personal interest in the wedding. Be sure they are concerned with the overall picture so the flowers will blend well with other decisions.

- Choose a florist who is willing to spend ample time with the customer and give the attention required when placing an order. Calling for an appointment can be arranged so there are little or no interruptions.

- Be sure the florist is willing to work within a set budget and that he or she doesn't talk the couple into something they can't afford. However, couples should not shop for price alone. A couple's wedding day is not the time to buy the lowest-priced or lowest-quality flowers. Everything should be fresh and beautiful, Graham said.

Printing needs

Also important in the wedding plans are the printing needs, including invitations, response cards, napkins and matchbooks.

Printers typically display books containing styles and designs of printing packages available. At U.S. Print, in Westland, owner Dennis LeMaitre offers several books, each containing approximately 150 choices of printing packages.

Printing packages today generally match the formal wear in the wedding party, LeMaitre said. When the printed items are not coordinated with the formal wear, popular colors are mauve and peach.

Couples should order printing needs approximately six to eight weeks before the wedding. After an estimate is determined for the number of people attending the wedding and reception, couples should visit a print shop.

When ordering invitations, couples should "work backward," according to Jim Dimitroff, owner of American Speedy Printing, in Westland.

"Couples should work backward when sending out the invitations. They must figure a head count is needed by the caterer about a week before the wedding. So responses must be received by that week. Then there's a week lag time for the responses. Then there's a week to get them ready and mailed out," Dimitroff said. "It should be about six weeks before the wedding that you have the invitations in your hands and ready to send out. Printing up the things takes about four to seven days."

When ordering invitations, LeMaitre, of U.S. Print, suggests that couples order too many rather than too few. Printing items, at most printing companies, must be ordered in increments of 25. Thus, the larger the order, the lower the cost per 25.

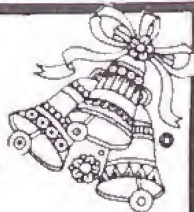

Men's formal wear

Perhaps the last main piece to the wedding puzzle is ordering the men's formal wear.

Tuxedos for the groom, groomsmen, fathers and grandfathers all should be ordered approximately one

Back is the future

Happy days are here again — as far as wedding attire is concerned. The 1920 look is in vogue, according to area fashion consultants, who explain that wedding dresses don't have to be traditional anymore. Here, model Cory Rosales straightens her satin headband, which accents the '20s flapper-look, chantilly lace gown she is wearing. ANP photo by Ann Grimes/staff photographer to two months before the wedding, according to Ron Heffebower, manager at Steve Petix Tuxedo Rentals and Sales, in Plymouth.

When looking for tuxedos, Heffebower said, "people are throwing out the books as to what's traditional for the wedding." Most younger grooms wear pleated trousers, and the fathers and grandfathers continue to wear the straight-legged pants.

"The tuxedos are becoming more stylish. Blacks are very popular, which seems to be a year-round thing now," he said. "In black alone, we carry approximately eight different tux styles to choose from. The darker colors seem to be what's in now."

White and ivory-colored tuxedos are especially popular from April through September.

Many of the popular lines of men's formal wear include Miami Vice, Christian Dior, Pierre Cardin, Lord West and the Dynasty Collection, by After Six. Average prices for tuxedos are between $55 and $70. Choices of slip-on and lace shoes are available at extra costs, generally between $6 and $9.

Et cetera

Now, the picture is complete. If all the pieces of the puzzle fit into place, a heavenly wedding will inevitably occur.

1988 wedding costs

What follows is a list of the average cost of a wedding in 1988, according to a recent Brides magazine study.

ITEM	COST
Printing	$270
Flowers	$547
Photographs	$787
Ceremony/reception music	$516
Clergy, church	$137
Limousine	$163
Attendants' gifts	$229
Engagement rings	$1,708
Wedding rings	$877
Rehearsal dinner	$413
Bride's gown	$502
Bride's headpiece	$127
Attendants' apparel	$629
Bride's mother apparel	$183
Groom's formal wear rental	$70
Men's formal wear	$320
Reception	$4,630
Honeymoon apparel	$321
TOTAL	$12,439

However, a few "extra" items should be checked before the ceremony begins. The entertainment - disc jockey or band - should be contacted approximately seven months before the wedding. If the couple wants to ride down luxury lane after the wedding, a limousine or another form of rental transportation should be ordered approximately one month before the wedding. ■

Tell all your friends and neighbors about that special event through your local newspaper.

The Associated Newspapers is pleased to announce news of your engagement, wedding or anniversary - free of charge.

Forms are available in our main office - located at 35540 Michigan Ave., Wayne - and in our Belleville branch office - 116 Fourth St., Belleville.

Photos are also accepted. A $5 processing fee is charged for all photos submitted.

The photos submitted may be black and white or colored. However, they must be good quality and clear.

Generally, engagement, wedding and anniversary announcements are printed within publication dates after submission.

For more information, call our newsroom at 729-4000.
